

Need A Break? These Staycation Spots Will Treat You Well

By Hayden Ng on Jan 08, 2016

We know how precious long weekends are and we've counted – there are in total, six long weekends for us to enjoy this year. That's great news, right? If, for whatever reasons, you're unable to hop on a plane and fly overseas, consider these sweet staycation spots.

The St Regis Singapore

Enter this luxurious hotel and the first thing that'll grab your attention is its grand looks. The architects – WATG and Wilson Associates – have kept the designs refined, timeless and elegant when building The St Regis. Of course, the lush furnishings don't just end at the hotel lobby. The rooms and suites – with spacious French marble bathrooms, exquisite hand-cut crystal chandeliers – are equally splendid and impressive; they're definitely worth looking out for.

Prices start from $940++ a night for the Grand Deluxe King Room.
