In 2017, the Turkish Riviera will reveal Viceroy Bodrum, a new diadem stretching over 32 acres above the beaches of Koyunbaba Bay.

The rugged beauty of the Turkish coastline inspired internationally acclaimed architectural firm WATG in the resort's design and amenities, where contemporary luxury will meld with the property's natural splendor.

Viceroy Bodrum will offer 84 guest rooms and 166 residences, a private beach club, a signature spa and several dining venues featuring Turkish and international fare. With a location that's easily reached from major European cities, the combination of sophistication and historical significance make Viceroy Bodrum a destination of distinction.
